TO: Gen. Vernon Walters

Your agreement to contribute to the COS Seminar is greatly appreciated.

Enclosed for your information are (a) a roster of seminar participants and (b) the seminar schedule. In planning your remarks you are asked to consider the destinations of seminar participants, and particularly the size of the stations to which they will be going. The following statistics on this class may be of interest to you - grade ranges from 12-16 (av. 14.6), age from 32-52 (av. 45) and years of service from 7.6-26 (av. 18.9, with 11 of these in the field). One officer had been chief of two stations, four have been deputies, three base chiefs, three Headquarters branch chiefs, three deputy branch chiefs at Headquarters and three branch chiefs in the field. Only two have had no previous command experience of record. As a group this one has more consistent experience than is usually the case.

The tab number under your topic heading refers to selected material related to your subject which is in the Reading Kit and which participants are presumed to have read. For your presentation, the item is:

NONE

As pointed out in the foreword accompanying the seminar schedule, the main thrust of this seminar is in the management area and it is requested, where pertinent, that your remarks stress the managerial aspects of your subject. We also request you take into consideration that five of the officers are going to small stations. Efforts by the speaker to engage the group in discussion usually makes for a more valuable session. The use of concrete examples from the speakers experience are always welcomed.

We request that you allow 10-15 minutes at the end of your talk for questions. Queries concerning the seminar should be directed to the undersigned or telephoned to extension

FOREWORD

The Objective of the COS Seminar is to assist newly assigned Chiefs of Station, Deputy Chiefs of Station, and Chiefs of Base to prepare themselves for their field assignment. Although the Seminar will deal in varying degrees with all aspects of the COS responsibilities, it will put primary stress on the management function.

The Seminar covers a wide variety of operational and administrative subject matter considered to be of practical value to field chiefs. The individual presentations made by senior officers from various directorates of the Agency are intended to provoke discussion and experience-sharing among Seminar participants, as well as to provide information on current policies, procedures and operational goals.

The purpose of the Seminar will best be served through active participation by all who attend.
